Vol. I. THE ARABIC TEXT. Paper covers, 10s. 6d.; Arabesque, 15s.

Vol. II. ENGLISH TRANSLATION. Paper covers, 10s. 6d.; Arabesque, 15s.

"For ease and facility, for variety of metre, for imitation, either designed or unconscious, of the style of several of our own poets, these versions deserve high praise. . . . We have no hesitation in saying that in both Prof. Palmer has made an addition to Oriental literature for which scholars should be grateful; and that, while his knowledge of Arabic is a sufficient guarantee for his mastery of the original, his English compositions are distinguished by versatility, command of language, rhythmical cadence, and, as we have remarked, by not unskilful imitations of the styles of several of our own favourite poets, living and dead."—Saturday Review.

"This sumptuous edition of the poems of Behá-ed-din Zoheir is a very welcome addition to the small series of Eastern poets accessible to readers who are not Orientalists. . . . In all there is that exquisite finish of which Arabic poetry is susceptible in so rare a degree. The form is almost always beautiful, be the thought what it may. But this, of course, can only be fully appreciated by Orientalists. And this brings us to the translation. It is excellently well done. Mr. Palmer has tried to imitate the fall of the original in his selection of the English metre for the various pieces, and thus contrives to convey a faint idea of the graceful flow of the Arabic. . . . Altogether the inside of the book is worthy of the beautiful arabesque binding that rejoices the eye of the lover of Arab art."—Academy.

ERATURE. By GEORGE SAINTSBURY. Crown 8vo, cloth, 10s. 6d.

"Mr. Saintsbury's proper character is well known as that of one of the most accomplished and thorough students of French literature to be found in England. Indeed, it may be doubted if he has any equal in all-round grasp and knowledge of his subject, at once extensive and minute. . . .
And of this the present work offers abundant proof. . . . It would not be easy to give too much praise to the whole of the first book on the literature of the Middle Ages. To say that it is by far the best account of French medieval literature in English would be a very dubious and inadequate compliment. . . . Unless we are much mistaken, it is the best account extant."—Fall Mail Gazette.

NEW NOVELS.

THE COMET and the TRANSIT of VENUS.

THOMAS HARDY.—TWO on a TOWER.

(3 vols., crown 8vo, 31s. 6d.) Being the Story of the Unforeseen Relations into which a Lady and a Youth many years her junior were drawn by Studying the Stars together; of her Desperate Situation through generosity to him; and of the Reckless Coup d'audace
by which she effected her deliverance.

"We have known military novels, sporting and dramatic novels, law and police novels, but an astronomical novel never. . . . But, besides this, the story departs widely from received models. . . . The author, in fact, has imagined and described a woman with whom few of his male readers will not fall in love."—Athenaeum.

W. CLARK RUSSELL.—THE LADY

FOUNDERS of the INDIAN EMPIRE.

CLIVE—WARREN HASTINGS—WELLESLEY.

Vol. I.—LORD CLIVE.

By Colonel G. B. MALLESON, C.S.I.,
Author of "History of the French in India."

8vo, with Portrait and Four Plans, 20s.

"Colonel Malleison has once more found a work worthy of his gifts. In the present volume he deals only with the first of the heroic triumvirate, and it is his intention to devote equal space to each of the others. When, therefore, the work comes to be finished the public will have a really authentic history of British India covering the whole of the period from the laying of the foundation-stone to the virtual completion of the structure by Arthur Wellesley. . . . How this splendid edifice of empire was built up, with 'blood and iron' for the cement, forms a story which Englishmen should never tire of reading. Nor will many minds weary, we answer for it, over the graphic pages full of life and fire and vivid local colouring in which the ablest of recent Indian historians tells the wondrous tale."—Globe.

WANDERINGS in BALOCHISTAN.

By Major-General Sir C. M. MAC GREGOR, K.C.B., C.S.I., C.I.E., Bengal Staff Corps, Quartermaster-General in India;

Author of "Narrative of a Journey through the Province of Khorassan."

8vo, with Large Map and numerous Illustrations, 18s.

"No better criterion could be desired of Sir Charles MacGregor's capacity to write than this book."—Athenaeum.

"Few living travellers have a truer eye for the salient physical features, the ethnical relations, and political situations of the less-known Asiatic regions than the distinguished author of this pleasantly written volume. The work is full of instructive scenes, while the graphic descriptions of the peculiar Baluch scenery are abundantly illustrated by numerous artistic sketches from the pencil of General MacGregor. The accompanying sketch-map is on a large scale, and gives, for the first time, a correct idea of the water-partings and drainage systems in Sistan and West Makran."—Academy.

I HAVE LIVED and LOVED. By Mrs. FORRESTER, Author of "Viva," "Mignon," &c. THIRD EDITION. 3 vols.

"Mrs. Forrester has written a number of lively novels, and none of them is more lively than her last."—Daily News.

"Mrs. Forrester's novels are invariably worth reading. Her present work is no exception to the rule. Mrs. Forrester not only thoroughly knows what she writes about, but knows also how to display the facts of her knowledge in a really artistic fashion. 'I Have Lived and Loved' is written with extreme cleverness, and the plot is constructed with skill. It deals with certain phases of society in which the readers of novels are very generally interested. It is a transcript of what actually goes on in a good many drawing-rooms and country houses, and, therefore, it will come with a pleasantly pleasant familiarity to those who are of the smart world, and with a sense of revelation to those who are not. Everyone who reads this book will know that the pictures drawn are not merely fancy sketches, and will acknowledge that the delineations of character are true to life."—World.

ON MR. SPENCER'S
UNIFICATION OF KNOWLEDGE.
By Malcolm Guthrie

Author of "On Mr. Spencer's Formula of Evolution."

CONTENTS.

On Mr. Spencer's Unification of Knowledge.

Reply to Mr. Spencer's Criticism.

An Examination of the "Principles of Psychology" with regard to its Position in the System for the Unification of Knowledge.

An Examination of the "Principles of Biology" with regard to its Place in Mr. Spencer's System.

A Criticism of the logical construction of Mr. Spencer's Philosophical System. The Writer is not opposed to the Author's criticisms as regards the Scientific Doctrine of Evolution so far as known to us; but he sees great blanks in the deductive treatment and failures of explanation, which cause him to regard Mr. Spencer's presumed fulness of exposition as merely illusory.
